

Time Travel Survival Kits Step Three
Vanessa Johnson

There was a little girl who's dad is a sailor, but not many years after her birth her mother fell sick and sadly didn't get better over time. She would spend time taking care of her mom and herself from a very young age because her dad was always sailing to provide some money. Although a few years later her mom passed away, and her dad returned home. She was too young and her mom didn't want her child to marry or anything so her dad told her that when she turned 18 she could join him on the boat. She spent much alone time at her house after school so she taught herself how to do a whole lot of things like, crochet, paint, cook, and to speak 3 different languages, and to play many instruments like the piano , violin ,flute, and the cello. She also studied plants. Her mom liked plants very much so she had many books about many plants. She grew quite an interest in these books and studied many different plants that could be used for healing. She would one day voyage to Europe with her dad during the year of 1347, but loses her bsf due to the black plague, Also known as the Black Death.

Present day, 12 /16/ 46

 girl wakes up

“ It's my birthday.” Daphne quickly runs up the stairs to see where her dad was. But instead she saw a card left by her dad. Her mom used to always make her birthday a big deal but ever since her passing she doesn't really do anything , and her dad is always on the boat, but she was told that on her 16th birthday she could finally join her dad. As she opened the card her dad left, she read “ Dear Daphne Happy birthday I will be coming back in 2 days so that you can finally join me on the boat. Your mother would be so proud of you and so am I. We've raised such a beautiful daughter with so much talent that shouldn't go to waste.”

Dr. Sam
Time Travel Project

So for the next 2 days Daphne packed and packed until nothing else fit in her bags. She also packed some of her mom's old stuff that she wanted to take on the boat with her. Her mom always wanted to be a doctor but never could, so Daphne wanted to make her mom's dreams come true. She had a plan for when her and her dad arrived in Europe, but she didn't know her plan wasn't gonna work so perfectly.

2 days later, 12/18/46

"Beatrice im here" yelled her dad from downstairs. Daphne ran downstairs to hug her dad. "I already packed my bags" said Daphne "Okay, give me a few hours to pack some more stuff, wash up and get some rest and we'll start sailing out tonight." said her dad. "And maybe you and Beatrice can start putting some of the bags in the boats" she responded with "okay" and walked towards the door picking up a few easy bags and headed next door.

knock on door Some time passed by and there was still no response.

"I wonder if they're home" she says and knocks again hoping someone would open the door, a few seconds later Beatrice opens the door.

"Hey Daphne".

"Hey, you wanna go pack our stuff in, I'll help you set your room up if you help me set mine".

"Okay, let's go"

Later on that day after packing their boats both families and a couple more people boarded the boat to start sailing to Europe, they were taking off from southwest Africa, taking them about 2 weeks. Daphne didn't get to see her friend for those 2 weeks besides when they could get the boat close enough to see each other from the deck where they would wave at each other and say hi, but they couldn't really have full on conversations.

Dr. Sam
Time Travel Project

Somewhere in between these 2 weeks on the boat Daphne found some of her mom's stuff in a box, “a doctor... my mom's wanted to be a doctor?” she found one of her mom's journals, she loved writing. After reading for a little she came across this part in her mom's journal where her mom walked about this girl but she was different. She looked different, dressed differently and carried herself completely different from how they thought a woman should act. Daphne would never see this young lady around town; she would only come at the weirdest moment as if this young lady was connected to Daphne's mom.

2 weeks later,

They landed in Europe, there were people everywhere, Daphne was so happy to finally be able to walk on land she was getting pretty sick of the sea. As soon as she stepped foot on land she got a lingering smell. It was sweet and smelled so good, she wanted to walk over and find out but her dad insisted that she stay and help.

“PLEASE. Dad please I'll take Beatrice with me and we'll be careful”, “sorry Daphne not today we just got here maybe clean up a little and me and after me and the other men check this place out a kid will be able to come along too”

she walked away back on to the boat as she slightly rolled her eyes

Her dad noticed but didn't want or have the energy to argue. After such a long trip her dad was extremely tired. He fell asleep, Daphne saw this as her chance so she took it. She went knocking on Beatrice's door.

gentle knocks* she didn't think Beatrice would be awake but luckily she was, “hey Daphne, are you ok?”

“Yeah I am, I was wondering if you wanted to take a walk with me?”

“umm Daphne I don't think that's a good idea because our parents told us kids not to be running around here all alone.”

Dr. Sam
Time Travel Project

“we won’t be running around its js a lil walk i promise it won’t be to far”

“ ok i guess”

Daphne and Beatrice put their jackets on and some boots and started walking. There was a breeze in the air and not as many people out.

“Daphne where are we walking” said Beatricec

“ Earlier today when we first got here I stepped out of the boat for a little and got a smell of something so sweet and delicious so I brought some coins” she said as she pulled the coins out of her jacket, dropping a few.

“Do you know where this place is or are u just following where u smell it from earlier”

“Just following from where i think the smell came from”

They kept walking and a few minutes later there it was, it was a tiny little bakery that almost even looked like a hole in the wall. The bakery had big wooden doors and windows in the front where you could see them kneading and baking the bread. As they opened the door the warm air from outside quickly rushed out the door into the cold.

“Come in come in” said a little lady standing in the back who appeared to be in her late 50’s.

“Hello ladies, would you be looking for anything specific today? ” Daphne stopped for a second as she looked around at all the bread in the bakery.

“Could we try those” she pointed her finger at this bread that looked like a raspberry danish.

“Yes of course would u ladies like 2 or 1”

“2 please”

“Okay that'll be 5 silver coins”

Daphne reached in her pocket and pulled out 5 silver coins and handed them to the woman. “ Are you girls from around here?” she asked before Daphne and Beatrice had the chance to turn around and leave.

Dr. Sam
Time Travel Project

“ no” Beatrice responded

“Are you girls all alone”

“ no, we are here with our family” said Daphne

“ all right well you girls be careful out here all alone”

“ Have a nice night goodbye,” Beatrice and Daphne said.

They pushed open the big wooden door and walked outside. As soon as they got outside the cold air hit them. They had forgotten how cold it was outside since they had been inside that bakery for so long. As they walked out the bakery the cold air hit them quick, they started to head back in the same direction they came from.

“ common let’s take a bite im so excited” says Daphne

They both pull out their raspberry danish and take a bite into it. They both look at each other and take another bite trying to figure out if they like it or not

“ I don’t think I’ve ever had anything like this Beatrice”

“ I like it”

They kept walking and then this man who looked quite sick from afar called out to them.

“Aye” he yelled

Daphne and Beatrice were pretty far ahead and couldn’t clearly see the man from where they were at.

“Let’s stop I think he’s calling us”

“Daphne, I don’t think that’s a smart idea. We don’t know who he is he could do something”

“What the worst that could happen it’s 2 of us against 1”

So Daphne stopped and looked back waiting for the man to come closer.

As the man gets close, she starts to run.

He ran past Daphne and grabbed Beatrice.

“DAPHNE”

Daphne grabs onto the man’s clothing and knees him so he drops Beatrice and then they start running, luckily the man didn’t follow them.

When they get to their boats they both go inside without a word.

Daphne felt so bad for putting Beatrice in that situation and she wouldn’t have stopped if she knew that was gonna happen.

The next day Daphne woke up not feeling so great, but she decided to go next door to see Beatrice and check up on her. but as Daphne walked up to their door this time she didn’t have to knock the door was already open. So Daphne walked in she didn’t see Beatrice’s parents only her little brother “ hey Oliver” he looked back quickly

“Daphne? Um hi.” He said

“Is Beatrice home?” She asked

“Yea but she’s in her room. Papa said she woke up feeling pretty sick but it seems to be getting worse.” Oliver said with a worried look on his face.

“Can I go up?”

“Yes if ur okay with getting sick”

So Daphne knotted her head and walked off, as she walked into Beatrice’s room she stopped in shock. Beatrice had painful lymph nodes. She explained to me that last night after we got home she got chills and didn’t think much of it. She tried her best to just sleep it off but when she woke up she felt extremely weak and started to notice black and red dots over her body. As Beatrice kept explaining to Daphne she started to feel kinda sick and dizzy and then she passed out. When she woke up again she was in her room, but now alone. There was a woman sitting in front of her bed, she had dirty blonde long hair she looked to be in her late 30s, Daphne didn't know who she was or why she was there.

Dr. Sam
Time Travel Project

“Who are you?” she asked.

She didn't answer, she looked at Daphne as if she didn't know what she was saying. The woman got up and handed Daphne a bottle with a note on it.

And then the women disappeared. Daphne could help but to wonder if this woman was the same woman who visited her mom. Where did she come from? Who was she? And how did she get here? Daphne had so many questions but her biggest one was what was in the bottle. The note said “antibiotics” were only enough for like 2 people. She didn't know if this was gonna work but she knew she had to try, she took one of the pills and got up to go back to Beatrice. As she walked into Beatrice's room hoping to save her. She realized she was too late. Beatrice had already passed.